north 56 tables

Launched in 2021, the North 56 collection of multi-use wood chairs was designed to fit a more relaxed and congenial workplace; one more welcoming in look and feel. The collection is expanded with new tables featuring the same minimalist design that complements the seating series.

North 56 tables address the movement towards a more casual and collaborative workstyle, elegantly combining the materiality of wood with a range of laminate or veneer worksurfaces.

Available in rectangular, square and round shapes, tables have integrated in-surface and under-surface power options available on most models. The rectangular two-piece split top allows for easy integration of user edge, casual electrics. Tethering options are also available on the rectangular and square tables. Sizes and heights include:

- Rectangular – four widths (60", 72", 84", 96") and one height (29")
- Square and Round – one worksurface size (40" and 46" respectively) and three heights (29", 36", 42")

North 56 tables are available in Teknion's Natural Veneer and Chroma Wood colour palettes, seamlessly coordinating with the North 56 seating series to create cohesive compositions throughout a space.

Danish designer Claus Breinholt is noted for pushing the boundaries of materials to re-imagine classic forms. Sicla, part of the North 56 collection, embodies elegance with a unique design language.

- The “basket” style with a thin lightweight shell curved along the edges
- The beautiful rib around the back of the chair – distinct design detail and added structural integrity in one

- Sicla fits in anywhere, around a cozy dining room table or behind a desk, and works in a group or on its own
- Dress it up or dress it down – with four varieties of leg options, endless fabric options, and five iconic shell colors Sicla, can be whatever you want it to be

hiSpace additions

The addition of a 120° height-adjustable bench completes the hiSpace height-adjustable offering, which includes the freestanding table, freestanding 120° table, single- and double-sided bench. The 120° height-adjustable bench provides generous worksurface space for multi-monitor setup while connecting three workstations on an efficient footprint.

A fixed height option is also available on the 120° bench, and is also available as a new option on hiSpace single- and double-sided benches and freestanding tables. Fixed height benches can also be connected to height-adjustable benches to offer versatility within a single run.

Additional features include a new workstation name tag and a new Toggle Switch option for the hiSpace height-adjustable offering (excluding hiSpace Slide).

studio tk – pico

Inspired by Mt. Pico, Portugal's highest mountain peak, the Pico lounge chair brings a sculptural element to the workspace. From back to front, the organic appearance of both the low-back and high-back evokes a sense of comfort while encouraging free movement and various seating postures. Complementing the free-flowing design, three very distinct bases are available: a 4-star swivel base, a metal sled base, and a four-legged wood base. Inviting, warm and welcoming, Pico is well suited for public spaces, offices, lounges and collaborative areas.
