ora product information

Ora, Italian for hour, offers a comfortable gathering place with refined finish options that encourages you to connect with co-workers; build social connection; and linger a little longer.

Designed for Studio TK by Jeff Miller, Ora features an hourglass shaped drum base that has the option of a durable polymer or fully upholstered finish that coordinates with seating and absorbs noise. Individual upper and lower base sections can be mixed and matched between polymers and textiles for an endless variety of applications. Tabletops are available in multiple heights and round, square or rectangular with soft corners, high pressure laminate or veneer surfaces, and a knife edge. Optional power adds functionality and cleanly routes cords down the inside of the pedestal to exit at the base.
